WASHINGTON, April 6 .- Out of 362 members of the present Congress 241 are lawyers, 10 are editors, and 18 are gentlemen of leisure. In the Senate there are 19 ex-Confederate soldiers and 4 Union soldiers. In the House there are 58 Confederate soldiers and 51 Union soldiers. Of course, as there are plenty of Union soldiers in eve-State of the West and the North, nd hundreds of them of the most creditable record, the only reason that there are not more of them in the Senate is because the Republican Legislatures preferred to send loud-mouthed politicians, who belonged to the stay-at-home class during the war. The reason why there are so many Confederate officers in Congress is because there were so few stay-at-home people in the South. There is no division of opinion here that the Republican Legislatures of the North would make a great improvement on their present representation in the Senate if they would send instead gallant Union soldiers.

What the South Complains Of.

[Charleston News and Courier.]
What the South complains of, and with reason, is that violations of law in the South are regarded in the North as something exceptional and monstrous, calling for special reprobation. This course prompts the South to demonstrate that there is as much brutality and crime in one part of the country as in another. It is unprofitable, of course, but natural. The dangers of lawlessness in the South are not lessened by exhibitions of bloody ferocity in the North. On the contrary, each aggravates each. Crime is crime whereever it takes place, and it is to be rebuked and reprehended whatever the provacation or excuse. This is the feeling in the South toand all-powerful but the unceasing and unreasonable abuse of the South, by Northern newspapers, whenever blood is shed on this side of the Potomac.

The Exodus of the Negroes. [Special to Richmond Dispatch, 8th.] WASHINGTON, April 7.—All the from the South indicate that the negroes are very much worked up in regard to going West and North, and that they have the idea that some Moses is to rise up and lead them from Egypt to the Promised soll, are so greatly interested in the movement-so much so that Zach.

LUNATICS OUTSIDE OF THE INSANE Raleigh News: The Executive ASYLUM.—The General Assembly at its last session passed an act to repeal the law providing for the main-meeting at the Yarborough House, enance of lunatics outside of the Insane Asylum. Claims for the maintenance of such lunatics cannot now be allowed and audited by the Auditor. Even when the expense of the maintenance occurred before the passage of the last act, the claim for such expense cannot be allowed. The Auditor rules and the Attorney General sustains the ruling, that under the law requiring every war-rant to refer to the law under which it is drawn, he cannot draw a warrant to defray the expense of maintaining outside lunatics, as there is no such law to refer to .- Raleigh APPOINTMENT ABUSES .- Southern members of Congress are protesting against the appointment to office, especially in the Treasury Department, of Northern men and the crediting them to Southern States. They want such appointees to come from the South in fact, though they expect them to be Republicans They are opposed to Maine or New York Republicans being put into office and the appointment credited to Georgia or Virginia. They have in some instances been turnished with the appointments credited to their States and upon whose recommendations they were made.

- EASTER SUNDAY .- This joyful day was ushered in with the usual strains of ancred music, as early as two p'clock in the morning. At 5 o'clock the congregation assembled in front of the Moravian church, and proceeded in procession through our beautiful Codar Avenue to the Moravian burying ground, where the Easter Morning Litany was prayed by Bishop DeSchweinitz. The assembly was large and many witnessed these interesting ceremonies for the first time. The graves were in many instances, decorated in a chaste and elegant manner. At 10 o'clock Bishop DeSchweinitz preached the sermon, Rev. E. Rondthaler being too unwell to officiate. The pulpit and front of desk were decorated, composed principalty of Calla lilles, Azalias, relieved by the beautiful evergreen foilage of the magnolia, box and

It has been our aim all this time to deal only in the best of whatever we sold, and we have never recommended or sold any thing which we were not satisfied, after careful investigation, was all that it was represented to be. We now offer only fertilizers of our own manufacture which we can and do recommend with confidence, not only as being weil and honestly made of the best materials, but as being, all things considered, the best on the market, and well worth the prices asked for them.

We claim that our fertilizers are entitled to the confidence of the planters and farmers of Virginia and North Carolina on the following grounds.

1st. They have been in successful use among them for fourteen years and have given greater or more uniform satisfaction than any other whatever, not excepting Peravian guano in its best days. This is established out of the mouths of thousands of witnesses, whose disinterested testimony we have been them to time during these years.

2d. The amount of capital invested in their production is so great that, considered as a matter of policy only, it would be wasse than foolish to do anything to forfeit the confidence of consumers and thereby destroy the business and reputation of a lifetime, and so render the investment worthless:

We hope the consideration of these facts will inspire confidence in the minds of buyers, and induce them to purchase the known and tried fertilizers offered them by responsible dealers rather than the cheap and unknown, so pyristently which so much decreases the value of otherwise good tobacco. It is not so much during the growth of the crop, however, that the superiority of this manure is manifested. When it comes to be weighed and sold, the superiority of that grown with our COMPLETE TOBACCO MANURE will be evident in its superior quality and greater weight, and the high price which

We have been raised and always lived in a tobacco growing country—have been in close intercourse with planters, and one of us has been a manufacturer of Tobacco. We think, other things being equal, this intimate connection with this crop, and a thorough knowledge of the various soils upon which it is grown, makes us better qualified to immunicature a fertilizer especially adapted to its wants, than those manufacturers located at a distance, who have no personal or practical at the fertilizer is to be upon the first line. knowledge of the peculiar requirements of the plant, or of the soils upon which the fertilizer is to be used.

We beg to say to growers of fancy bright tobacco, that for that class of tobacco the Star Brand Complete Tobacco.

well. In fact, your terancer as for poor land.

Mr. Joseph D. Trent, of Henry Co., Va., writes, December 12, 1878; "I am much pleased with your "Complete Tobacco Manure," having used it in making my last crop of tobacco. Within the last ten years I have used several brands, and had thought that the was a success until I tried your 'preparation,' which I can say is entirely suitable to the character of the soil in this section. My crop is excellent. The texture and color is all that could be desired.— Will continue to use the same fertilizer.

Mr. Geo. J. Mandor, Rockingham Co., N. C., writes: "I used three bags, will continue to use the same fertilizer.

Mr. Geo. J. Mandor, Rockingham Co., N. C., writes: "I used three bags, the last tobacco I had, I think your "Complete Tobacco Manure" is a splendid thing, and far superior to most fertilizer.

"I would say without the least hesitation that I prefer your "Complete Tobacco Manure to any fertilizer I have ever used, all things considered, and, like some other of your patrons, I have cured the finest crop of tobacce from the use of it that I have ever raised."

Mr. H. M. Smith, of Patrick Co., Va., writes, January 17, 1879:
"I have been using your "Fertilizer" for three years, and find it as good as any that I have ever used. I planted in rough, new ground last year, half broke, and made a good crop of tobacco."

Mr. E. B. MOORE, of Pittsylvania Co., Va., writes, Novem Mr. E. B. Moore, of Pittsylvania Co., Va., writes, November 21, 1878: "I bought two tons of "Complete Tobacco Manure from you, but being absent from home, only 14 tons was used on the land I intended for the two tons (about 90,000 hills.) I must say that I as well as my neighbors, were wonderfully pleased with the result. It started the tobacco as soon as planted, and continued to act splendidly until it was cut, ripening it a beautiful yellow and the tobacco was decidedly more leafy and of better body, than that grown on the same land with the bag of the ——, that has generally stood highest in this neighborhood. I and most of my neighbors will buy of you next year."

Mr. ED. JONES, of Henry Co., Va., writes, December 24, 1878 : " purchased one ton of your "Complete Tobacco Manure" last spring, and applied one hundred and fifty pounds to the acre. I think it acted as well as any I ever used. I expect to use it again.

10, 1878: "I have seen several of my neighbors who used your "Complete Tobacco Manure" last crop, and all speak well of it. I used about five tons on tobacco along side of No. I Peruvian Guano. In one field there was a decided difference in favor of your fertilizer, while in other fields I could not discover any difference. I can safely recommend it to all who want to make fine tobacco. I think the tree there were the control of the country of the coun It better than Peruvian Guano, because it does not start off the plant so rapid as Peruvian does some times, causing it to spindle up

Mr. JEFFERSON DALTON, of Pittsylvania Co., Va., writes, November 19, 1878: "The 'Star Brand' Fertilizer bought of you last Spring is far superior to any I have ever used. My tobacco yellowed on the hill beautifully, and I intend to use it again if I can get it. Several of my neighbors used it, and they are well pleased with

DO FERTILIZERS PAY?—Our patrons, in reporting on the action of our "Complete Tobacco Manure," frequently state that by the use of 300 lbs. [per acre on tobacco they have made plants running three (3) to the pound, when it required eight (8) to ten (10) plants, such as were produced on the same land without the Manure, to weigh a pound. Now, assuming that the manured plants turn out only 1-5 lb. each, that is, five (5) to the pound, and only 4,200 plants to the acre, the product would be $40 pounds against 525 pounds (eight plants to the pound) without fertilizer—both costing about the same in labor, the only difference being the cost of the manure. And not only is the yield larger, but the larger yield will be better in quality and command a much higher price—from the best information we can get from planters and commission merchants, if the smaller crop averaged $5 per 100, the larger would bring $8— and the statement of profit would be about as follows:

840 lbs. good to prime tobacco at 8c 525 lbs. poor to good tobacco at 5c

Gain from 300 lbs. Complete Tobacco Manure, $40 95 Deduct cost of manure, 300 lbs. at $50 per ton on farm 7 50 Net gain, 1011671211098 Net gain,

The expenditure of $7.50 in fertilizers makes a difference in the rop of $40.95, which is 446 Per Craft Provided to understate the case—

We have been careful in this calculation to understate the case—four plants to the pound with, against ten or twelve without fertilizer, is nearer the average; and we have named the highest price Let every planter make the calculation for himself, drawing his figures from his own experience, and we think, whatever the result may be, he will agree with us that, if the use of the guano pays only "half" as well as "our" calculation or "his" makes it appear no planter can afford to try to make a crop without it. It should be borne in mind that in this as in all other cases, a profit run one.

be borne in mind that in this as in all other cases, a profit can only be realized by the use of a high grade and trustworthy fertilizer, especially adapted to the wants of the crop, such as the "Star Brand Complete Tobacco Manure." pleased with your "Complete Tobacco Manure." I noused one of the finest crops of tobacco that I have made since the war. It gave the plant a quick and vigorous growth, and, notwithstanding we had a severe drought, the tobacco held its own all the time. After the drought we had a great deal of wet weather, but our tobacco never stopped ripening or yellowing on the hill. It has a fine texture, weight and variety. It is the strongest fertilizer I ever used." Mr. Robert J. Harris, Surry Co., N. C., writes: "I used four sacks of your "Complete Tobacco Manure." It did better than I expected, and gave entire satisfaction: I shall use it this season, as I prefer it to any fertilizer I have ever used. My tobacco grew large and yellow on the hill. All the neighborhood said the crop was the best they ever saw

Mr. A. J. Satterfield, of Surry Co., N. C., writes, January 30, good, two last years used 'Star Brand.' It is worthy of all you poor ridge land, that had been in pasture for eight years, 200 pounds to the acre, with 400 pounds ashes, drilled in very deep. I made a growth, yellows on the hill, curie easily, and weights well. It gives to bacco, and my wheat, on the same land, is looking well. In fact, your fertilizer does all I could ask of it. I think it is the best tobacco manure I eyer saw for poor land."

Mr. Joseff D. Trent, of Henry Co., Va., writes, December 12, 1878: "I am much pleased with your "Complete Tobacco Manure," having used it in making my last crop of tobacco.
